Career options after Class XII

Management

Growing scale of business, blurring geographical boundaries, emerging global opportunities & quantified ways of doing things have contributed to the spike in demand for management professionals. Early exposure to management skills at Undergraduate level (BBA/BMS) can help young and ambitious students establish themselves as senior management professionals in the long run. In fact, BMS/BBA is termed as a precursor to MBA

BBA Graduates can pursue MBA or start a career as trainee managers in private organisations. Public sector undertakings like banks, railways etc have also started hiring BBA graduates

Law

A decade ago, a career in law predominantly meant litigation. A typical career path was to start as an assistant to a senior lawyer, spend long years to establish oneself and eventually get the first independent case after uncertain duration. Post liberalization, business activity increased in Indian firms. As a result, multiple career options emerged for law professionals. Today, a law graduate has a plethora of options to choose from

Law graduates can practise litigation, work in law firms or work as in-house counsel for banks & other corporate entities. In addition, they find opportunities in Legal Journalism, International Organisations, Judiciary, Civil Services, Teaching and so on.

Hotel Management

Factors like a growing number of domestic travellers, increasing visits by foreign tourists, rise of consumerism in tier 2/3 cities and aggressive promotion by ministry of tourism have immensely contributed to the growth of the tourism sector in India. Hospitality services form an important part of this value chain. Hospitality being a service industry, its growth will directly drive the demand for trained professionals

Hotel management professionals can find employment in Hotels & Restaurants, Cruise Ships, Hospitality Administration & Catering, Airline Catering & Cabin Services, Banking Sector & BPO, among other fields

Media Journalism

Media is a very vivid and versatile industry. Today, the definition of media includes broadcasting with the help of TV & Radio and entertainment with use of audio visuals – films, videos and games. It also includes publishing of books, papers, magazines etc.

A career in media industry offers ample job opportunities and growth, for candidates with excellent communication skills. Media professionals can join the industry as Journalists, Advertising/ Marketing/ Brand Professionals, Content Writers and so on

Info Tech BCA

Bachelor of Computer Application (BCA), earlier known as the Bachelor of Information Technology (BIT) is one of the most preferred professional programs among today's youth. Many IT companies have started recruiting BCA graduates for the same roles as Engineering graduates, since they are considered capable of handling almost all roles handled by Engineers. They focus on specialized areas and are designated as Software Architects, Design Engineers, Developers, Quality Assurance Engineers etc. A BCA graduate can join armed forces by applying for Combined Defence Services (CDS) entrance examination. With a technical background, BCA degree forms a strong foundation to pursue an MBA in systems management
